

Submission Announcement for ICCAD CAD Contest 2026

Dear Contestants:

The deadline for Alpha test submission is June 12, 2026 (17:00, GMT+8).

Only submissions via specified methods will be accepted. Cloud submissions will not be opened, and email submissions are not allowed.

Late submissions will not be accepted therefore early uploads are strongly encouraged. The specified methods will shut down on time and ongoing uploads will be stopped. Re-submissions due to errors in file naming will not be accepted. Please review the Q&A and problem descriptions carefully for specific rules.

- Problems D 、 E :

We created a folder named " alpha_test_submission" for each group's home directory. Please put all the files you want to submit in the corresponding submission stage folder. Do not rename the folders and no additional compression is required in the target folder.

If you need to modify your IPs, please provide your valid and static IPs to cad.contest.iccad@gmail.com. As the configuration process takes several business days, late requests will not be accepted. Please check your VM connections as soon as possible. If you encounter any problems, please contact us to avoid failed submissions.

Note that the TSRI server will temporarily close after the submission deadline. Please have all the file copies with you if you need them.

Sincerely yours,

The Organizing Committee
